

Proposal for Change to NWFU Policy Book

The Northwest Farmers Union Policy Book is a dynamic, working document that reflects priorities of our region's agricultural and fishing communities. Those priorities will change with time, and NWFU's policies will also change. We invite our members to submit recommended changes, electronically or in hard copies (Note: no telephone submissions will be accepted.). Proposed changes should be brief, thorough and clear. They may contain new language, or they may simply express a position. The Policy Committee of NWFU's board of directors will review all submissions at least 30 days prior to the next annual meeting of the membership. If approved by the Committee, the proposed change will be presented to the annual meeting.
